BCBEC invites you to stay connected,
current and inspired!

Recent global events have highlighted the importance of considering both the interior and exterior performance of our buildings, particularly as they relate to indoor air quality, ventilation, and energy efficiency.

This year's virtual, half-day seminar provides a setting for industry-wide dialogue on these topics as we strive to build more resilient, durable and energy efficient structures for the future, while addressing challenges of the present.

Join us for this virtual half-day seminar to discover:

- Embodied Carbon & Sustainability
- Indoor Air Quality & COVID-19
- Occupancy Related Ventilation Issues
- Resilient Building Design
